SO IT'S KNIT, KNIT, KNIT FOR THE HOME TEAM
By David Cotner
 If you thought the only needlepoint in baseball involved steroids, this may change your mind: It's the constitutionally bizarre pairing of knitting and Major League Baseball at today's National NeedleArts&C presented Stitch 'n' Pitch appearance at Dodger Stadium. The NNA -- dedicated to heightened awareness of knitting, crocheting, embroidering, cross-stitching and needlepoint -- gets big points for properly inserting apostrophes both before and after the abbreviated 'n,' but &C; really? Well, if they can have All-You-Can-Eat Seats, anything's fair game. You can crochet and knit as the game plays on and the "woof woof" you encounter is not that of dejected Arsenio Hall and/or Phillies fans but instead the fiber woven perpendicular to warp fibers to make fabric. Look at it creatively: You can crochet a net in which to catch fly balls, those big knitting needles make excellent skewers for Dodger Dogs, and who doesn't love wearing those festive embroidered "We're #27" hands?
